

Appendix B: Methodology and Bill Lists

A team of LWVKY researchers used the Kentucky General Assembly’s online Legislative Record to investigate bills passed in seven regular legislative sessions: 1998, 2002, 2006, 2010, 2014, 2018, and 2022. The Legislative Record is a cumulative document compiled by the Legislative Research Commission at the end of each day in the legislative session. The Record contains a digest of all bills, resolutions, and amendments and summarizes all daily legislative action on the House and Senate floor. It can be found online at legislature.ky.gov/Legislation. 1998 was the earliest 60-day regular session available there, and 2022 the most recent.

We looked at every bill that became law in those sessions, coding each bill based on the process used to pass it (see coding guide below). One member did a first version of entering codes and notes on concerns for each step of the process. Other members checked all those codes and notes, and the team reconciled any differences. Based on that quality control step, we also made the notes clearer and more consistent.

CODING GUIDE
Issue	Entries Showing Concern	Entries not Showing Concern	Notes
Readings Before First Committee Vote	One Two	[Blank]	Some bills receive votes in two committees, and other bills are sent back to the original committee for a second vote. The entries here are specifically about readings before the first committee vote
Committee Substitutes	Yes	No	This column was only used if a bill raised concern based on early readings or fast floor votes. If a bill had a first committee vote before its first reading and had two days between last committee vote and floor vote, that was not noted in our analysis
Days from Last Committee Vote To Floor Vote	0 1	2 (or more)
Days from Free Conference Committee Report to Floor Vote	0 1	2 (or more)

Over the seven legislative sessions studied, a total of 271 bills that became law were identified for one or more of these concerns, discussed in our report, How Can They Do That? Transparency and Citizen Participation in the Kentucky Legislative Process, available at lwvky.org/HowCanThey. The tables below show those bills by session, number, title, and the concerns we identified. A final list shares the number of bills filed and the number that became law in each session.
